Dear Pete,

I have made several New Year's resolutions and I intend to keep all of them. I'm starting to keep them tomorrow. I'm going to give up playing computer games and start to study harder. I'm going to return all the CDs I've borrowed. I'm not going to stay up late any more. Those days are over! I'm going to get up early and practise the guitar. I'm going to start a new boy band and write hip-hop music. I'll be famous one day – you'll see! I'll write to you again next month and let you know how I do.

Regards,

Mike

Dear Mike,

I don't make New Year's resolutions because I know I won't keep them. For instance, two years ago I made a resolution to be nicer to my brother. The next day he broke my bike and I was furious. I took his favourite music poster off his wall and hid it. Do you think you'll keep your resolutions? I suggest you give up some of them now. It will be very difficult to keep them all.

Bye,

Pete

1. What is Mike going to stop doing?

2. What is Mike planning to do about his school work?

3. Which musical instrument does Mike play?

4. Why doesn't Pete make New Year's resolutions?

5. Why was Pete angry with his brother?

2 How do you think Mike will do? Will he keep his resolutions? Write your predictions.

3 Write an e-mail to a friend telling him / her about your resolutions for next year.
